ORDER ADOPTING, IN PART, ACA AUDIT REPORT OF TENNESSEE REGULATORY AUTHORITY'S
ENERGY AND WATER DIVISION

This matter came before Director Deborah Taylor Tate, Director Sara Kyle and Director Ron Jones of the Tennessee Regulatory Authority (the "Authority"), the voting panel assigned to this docket, at the regularly scheduled Authority Conferences held on November 22, 2004 and December 13, 2004, for consideration of the report of the Authority's Energy and Water Division (the "Staff") resulting from the Staff's audit of Chattanooga Gas Company's ("CGC" or the "Company") annual deferred gas cost account filing for the year ended June 30, 2003. The Actual Cost Adjustment Audit ("ACA") Report (the "Report"), attached hereto as Exhibit 1, contains the audit findings of the Staff, the original responses thereto of the Company, and the recommendations of the Staff to the Company in addressing the findings.

CGC submitted its ACA filing on September 3, 2003, and the Staff completed its audit of the Company's filing on May 23, 2004. On May 24, 2004, the Staff issued preliminary ACA audit findings to CGC, and the Company responded to the findings on June 1, 2004. The Staff filed its Report with Authority on June 4, 2004.

The Report contained four findings. The first finding was that CGC understated the amount of its storage injections for the month of September 2002. The result is an over-collection of $2,121.32.

The second finding was that CGC understated the amount of ACA surcharges collected for the 2001-2002 audit period because the Company used the wrong sales volumes for the "All Other" category of customers. Correcting these sales volumes resulted in an over-recovery of gas costs of $40,521.

The third finding was that CGC violated its Interruptible Margin Credit Rider ("IMCR") tariff regarding the sharing of gross profit margin on off-system sales. The IMCR tariff in place during the audit period applied to the treatment of gross profit margin realized on gas sales made by the Company to customers not a part of its system ("off-system sales"). Under the terms of CGC's Gas Storage Asset Bailment Agreement (the "Agreement") with its affiliate, Sequent Energy Management ("Sequent"), Sequent paid the Company $300,000 per year for use of the Company's assets and retained any profits gained through the use of the Company's assets when making off-system sales. CGC retained the $300,000 fee regardless of whether that use resulted in profits or losses. The Agreement was never filed with the Authority for approval. Under the IMCR tariff, CGC's ratepayers were entitled to credits for 50% of all gross profit margin generated by off-system sales of Company assets. During January 2003 to December 2003, the period of time subsequent to the audit period, $1.3 million was credited to the Company's customers from off-system sales under a new tariff. Staff concluded that the disparity between this amount and the $300,000 credited to customers during the audit period demonstrated that CGC's customers likely were entitled to much more under the IMCR tariff than they received as a result of the Company's Agreement with Sequent. The Staff was unable to discover the actual profits achieved through Sequent's off-system sales of the Company's assets because Sequent did not track its use of Company assets. In addition, the Staff made the following recommendations based upon this finding:

1. Staff recommended that the Authority consider sanctions and/or penalties against CGC for failure to document off-system sales margin in order to comply with the terms of its IMCR tariff.
2. Staff recommended that the Authority instruct CGC to provide a reasonable method to determine a fair amount that should be refunded to its customers for the use of assets during the period of January 2002 through December 2002. If no reasonable method were provided, Staff recommended that the customers be refunded 50% of the gross margin on all transactions that Sequent engaged in using all assets at its disposal during this period.
3. Staff recommended that the Authority instruct CGC to make sure a system was in place to track all transactions made using the Company's assets going forward.
4. Staff recommended that the Authority consider formalizing an amendment to the IMCR tariff addressing the basic requirements for affiliate agreements.
5. Staff recommended that the Authority engage an outside consultant to assist Staff in future audits of CGC's ACA Account and Incentive Plan. The consultant would work under the Staff's direction, with consulting fees paid for by the Company and reimbursed by the ratepayers in the Actual Cost Adjustment.

The fourth and final finding was that, after making the corrections for Finding Nos. 1 and 2, the amount of interest due from customers was overstated by $1,395, representing an over-recovery of gas costs. Finding Nos. 1, 2 and 4 resulted in an over-recovery of $44,037.32, which when added to CGC's calculated balance, resulted in a negative (over-recovered) balance in the ACA Account of $708,183.

CGC agreed with Finding Nos. 1, 2 and 4, but did not concur with Finding No. 3. The Company stated that it did not violate the IMCR tariff and that the $300,000 fee was based on a multi-year average of off-system sales and was reasonable. Further, CGC alleged it had discussed the bailment arrangement with the Staff before it was implemented and did not believe it was necessary to seek approval of the Agreement. The Company also responded that the arrangement with Sequent was in place during a period previously audited by the Staff and there was no mention of a violation of the tariff in the final report. CGC also stated that the calculation of the customers' share of the profits made in 2003 under an amended tariff as more than four times the amount credited under the bailment agreement was inaccurate. Finally, the Company responded that Sequent did not track the revenue generated from off-system sales using the Company's assets due to the nature of the Agreement and the bailment fee.

In its Response of Chattanooga Gas Company to the Energy and Water Division's Compliance Audit Report filed on July 9, 2004, CGC requested the Authority reject Finding No. 3 and Recommendation Nos. 1 and 2. In response to Finding No. 3, the Company stated that Staff had been fully informed of the bailment agreement and, until the Report, the Staff never questioned the treatment of the bailment as an off-system sale under the IMCR provision in the tariff or the fairness of the level of the credit to the Company's customers. When it became apparent in late 2002 that changing market conditions warranted a new arrangement, CGC terminated the bailment arrangement effective December 31, 2002. According to the Company, in early 2003 Sequent implemented a new system that allowed it to track revenue generated from each utility's assets separately. After discussions with the Staff, CGC had retroactively amended its tariff to make all transactions with non-jurisdictional customers subject to sharing, not just the off-system sales, effective January 1, 2003. With respect to whether the bailment arrangement violated the Company's tariff, CGC alleged the Staff's recommendation that the Company be required to recalculate the IMCR credits for January 2002 through December 2002 would result in disparate treatment between CGC and the Nashville Gas Company because, in TRA Docket No. 03-00489,¹ the Staff recommended that Nashville Gas Company eliminate an asset management fee on a going forward basis, but did not recommend sanctions or a re-calculation of the credits. Nor did the Company believe it should be penalized because Sequent did not separately track the revenue generated from Sequent's management of CGC's assets. According to the Company, Sequent did not track the information due to the nature of the Agreement and the bailment fee. The Company specifically responded to Recommendation No. 1, stating that sanctions and penalties were not warranted because CGC did not violate its IMCR tariff by failing to document the revenue generated from Sequent's management of CGC's assets. Because the $300,000 annual credit to the customers satisfied the sharing provisions of the IMCR tariff, it was unnecessary for Sequent to separately track the revenue. CGC also stated that it acted in good faith in keeping the Staff informed of the implementation of the Agreement and its subsequent termination. CGC responded to Recommendation No. 2, stating that the $300,000 credit to customers reflected a fair and reasonable payment based on the market conditions known at the time as well as providing an analysis to illustrate that the payment was fair and reasonable. The Company responded to Recommendation No. 3, stating that it had already complied with this recommendation because when CGC terminated the Agreement in December 2002, Sequent implemented a tracking system to document revenue generated from all transactions using CGC's assets. In response to Recommendation No. 4, CGC stated that it was in the process of finalizing a new asset management agreement, which would require Sequent to ensure that its payments for management of the Company's assets were in accordance with its amended IMCR tariff. CGC responded to Recommendation No. 5, stating that it did not object to the engagement of a qualified consultant to assist the Staff or the proposed method of paying for and recovering the associated costs. The Company, however, believed that it should be an active participant in the selection of the consultant and that the consultant should be prohibited from disclosing confidential or trade secret data. CGC also stated that it would object to the consultant participating in an audit of its PBR filing to the extent its gas purchases fell within the specified benchmarks.

On November 5, 2004, the Staff filed the Staff Reply to the Response of Chattanooga Gas Company to the Energy and Water Division's Compliance Audit Report. In its reply, the Staff stated that, based on CGC's Response, it chose not to pursue Recommendation No. 1 regarding penalties or sanctions although the Staff still disagreed with the Company that documentation of affiliate transactions made relative to the IMCR tariff was not needed. Addressing Recommendation No. 2, the Staff stated it accepted CGC's method of supporting the reasonableness of its payments under the bailment agreement; however, because the transactions were not tracked, the Staff could not give assurances that the Company's customers received their fair share of profit margin absent an audit of the transactions that took place. In addition, regarding Recommendation No. 3, the Staff accepted the system CGC had put in place to track all transactions Sequent made using the Company's assets. However, the Staff reiterated its support of Recommendation No. 4 regarding amending the tariff to include affiliate rules governing the selection of an asset manager and Recommendation No. 5 regarding the hiring of an outside consultant to assist the Staff in future audits of the Company.

On November 9, 2004, the Consumer Advocate and Protection Division of the Office of the Attorney General ("Consumer Advocate") filed a Petition to Intervene. In support of its request to intervene, the Consumer Advocate noted that the Report revealed several problems with the way costs were being recovered from consumers without proper credit being given to consumers for revenues produced by the sale of some of the gas assets paid for by consumers and that CGC failed to disclose the actual earnings from assets paid for by consumers. In addition, the Consumer Advocate stated that the Report indicated the possibility that the Company had been "dealing with its affiliate in less than an arms length manner, but has not kept proper records."² The Consumer Advocate stated that only by intervening and participating in this proceeding could it work to protect the public interest.

On November 15, 2004, CGC filed its Response of Chattanooga Gas Company to the Staff's November 5, 2004 Reply and its Motion in Opposition to the Consumer Advocate and Protection Division's Petition to Intervene. In the response, the Company requested that the Authority accept the Staff's revised Recommendation Nos. 1, 2 and 3 and stated that it did not oppose Recommendation No. 5. However, CGC requested that the Authority reject Recommendation No. 4. If the Authority decided to accept Recommendation No. 4, however, the Company suggested it would be more appropriate to open a separate generic proceeding that included all gas companies in order to address the issue consistently. In its motion, CGC stated that the Consumer Advocate had not considered the Staff's November 5, 2004 revisions to its original recommendations or the additional information the Company provided to the Staff with the Company's July 9, 2004 response. CGC further stated that, since the Staff had withdrawn Recommendations 1, 2 and 3 and the Company did not object to Recommendation 5, the only remaining issue was whether CGC's tariff should be amended to include affiliate rules relating to the selection of an asset manager as stated in Recommendation 4. Again, although CGC stated that it did not believe such rules were necessary, it suggested that if the Authority decided to investigate this option that those issues would be better addressed in a generic docket. Therefore, the Company believed it was unnecessary for the Consumer Advocate to intervene or for the Authority to convene a contested proceeding.

NOVEMBER 22, 2004 AND DECEMBER 13, 2004 AUTHORITY CONFERENCES

At the regularly scheduled Authority Conference held on November 22, 2004, the panel voted unanimously to accept Finding Nos. 1, 2 and 4 and to defer consideration of Finding No. 3, the Staff recommendations and the Consumer Advocate's Petition to Intervene.

On December 13, 2004 at the regularly scheduled Authority Conference, the panel voted unanimously to reject Finding No. 3. A majority³ of the panel found that there was no evidence that CGC violated its IMCR tariff regarding the sharing of gross profit margin on off-system sales because, absent a tracking system, the Staff had no way to determine the existence of such a violation or to determine that the benefits the Company's customers received were an appropriate return on the investment of assets for which they have been paid.

³ Director Jones voted to reject Finding No. 3 on the basis that the manner in which the Company accounted for the $300,000 profit margin did not violate its tariff. However, Director Jones emphasized that this conclusion did not represent approval of the bailment agreement as an appropriate affiliate transaction agreement and that the Company acted in good faith under the reasonable belief that its intended revenue treatment was compliant with the tariff.

The panel voted unanimously to reject the Staff's recommendations set forth in the Report. The majority of the panel found that it was in the public interest to create a stable natural gas market to bring further benefits to Tennessee consumers and that the recommendations of the Staff would not promote this public interest.⁴ After Director Jones noted that the Staff had withdrawn Recommendation Nos. 1, 2 and 3 in its November 5, 2004 filing, the panel voted unanimously to reject Recommendation No. 4, which recommended that the Authority consider formalizing an amendment to the IMCR tariff addressing the basic requirements for affiliate agreements. However, the panel voted unanimously to require any affiliate asset management agreement to be filed with the Authority for approval prior to the commencement of the agreement and to deny the CGC's request to open a generic rulemaking regarding affiliate rules for selecting an asset manager. The panel also voted unanimously to reject Recommendation No. 5, which recommended that the Authority engage an outside consultant to assist the Staff in future audits of the Company's ACA Account, and to instruct the Staff that they can request an outside consultant on a case-by-case basis. In addition, a majority of the panel voted to accept the tracking system currently put in place by CGC.⁵

A majority⁶ of the panel found that the concerns addressed by the Consumer Advocate should be addressed on a going-forward basis and voted to deny the Consumer Advocate's Petition to Intervene.

⁴ Director Jones did not rely on this line of reasoning as a basis for his decisions

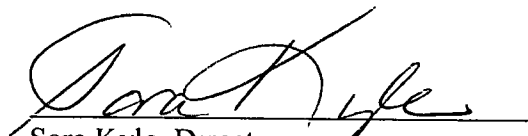

⁵ Director Jones did not vote with the majority. Instead, he noted that the Staff had withdrawn Recommendation No. 3, which recommended instructing the Company to put in place a tracking system. In its November 5, 2004 filing, the Staff accepted the system CGC had put in place to track all transactions Sequent made using the Company's assets.

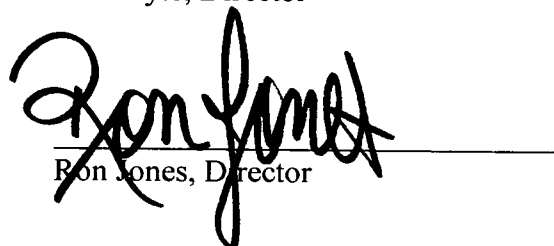

⁶ Director Jones did not vote with the majority, instead, he voted to grant the Petition to Intervene for the limited purpose of giving the Consumer Advocate the ability to pursue any post-decision course of action.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED THAT:

1. With the exceptions noted in this Order, the Actual Cost Adjustment Audit Report of Chattanooga Gas Company's annual deferred gas cost account filing for the year ended June 30, 2003, a copy of which is attached to this Order as Exhibit 1, is approved, adopted and incorporated in this Order as if fully rewritten herein.
2. The tracking system put in place by Chattanooga Gas Company to track all transactions Sequent Energy Management makes using the Company's assets is approved.
3. The Staff can request the Authority to approve the engagement of an outside consultant to assist in future audits of Chattanooga Gas Company's ACA Account on a case-by-case basis.
4. Any agreement entered into between Chattanooga Gas Company and an asset manager shall be filed with the Authority for approval prior to the commencement of the agreement.
5. The Petition to Intervene filed by the Consumer Advocate is denied.
6. Any party aggrieved by the Authority's decision in this matter may file a Petition for Reconsideration with the Authority within fifteen (15) days from the date of this Order.

TENNESSEE REGULATORY AUTHORITY

Pursuant to Tenn Code Ann. §§65-4-104, 65-4-111 and 65-3-108, the Energy and Water Division of the Tennessee Regulatory Authority hereby gives notice of its filing of the Compliance Audit Report of the Actual Cost Adjustment Audit (hereafter "ACA") component of the Purchased Gas Adjustment Rule for Chattanooga Gas Company in this docket and would respectfully state as follows

1 The present docket was opened by the Authority to hear matters arising out of the ACA audit of Chattanooga Gas Company (the "Company")

2. The Company's ACA filing was received on September 3, 2003, and the Staff completed its audit of same on May 23, 2004. The original 180-day deadline for the Staff's completion of the audit was extended to June 21, 2004 by mutual consent of Chattanooga Gas Company and the TRA Staff as provided for in the Purchased Gas Adjustment Rule (1220-4-7-.03 (2))

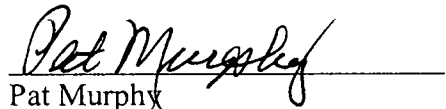

3 On May 24, 2004, the Energy and Water Division issued its preliminary ACA audit findings to the Company, and on June 1, 2004 the Company responded thereto.

4. The preliminary ACA audit report was modified to reflect the Company's responses and a final ACA audit report (hereafter the "Report") resulted therefrom. The Report is attached hereto as Exhibit A and is fully incorporated herein by this reference

5. The Energy and Water Division hereby files its Report with the Tennessee Regulatory Authority for deposit as a public record and approval of the recommendations and findings contained therein.

I. INTRODUCTION

The subject of this audit is Chattanooga Gas Company's ("Company," "Chattanooga," or "CGC") compliance with the Actual Cost Adjustment and Refund Adjustment of the Purchased Gas Adjustment Rule ("PGA Rule") of the Tennessee Regulatory Authority ("TRA" or the "Authority"). The objective of the audit was to determine whether the purchased gas adjustments, which are encompassed by the Actual Cost Adjustment ("ACA"), as more fully described in section VI, for the year ended June 30, 2003, were calculated correctly and were supported by appropriate source documentation

II. AUDIT OPINION

The Staff concludes that except for the findings noted herein, the Purchased Gas Adjustment mechanism, as calculated in the Actual Cost Adjustment, appears to be working properly and in accordance with the TRA rules for Chattanooga Gas Company. While the monetary findings are not material, with respect to the Company's total gas costs, Finding #3 regarding the Company's Bailment Agreement with its affiliate Sequent Energy Management ("Sequent") is cause for concern. See Section VIII of this report.

III. SUMMARY OF COMPANY FILING

The Company made its Actual Cost Adjustment filing for its Tennessee service area on September 3, 2003. This ACA filing showed $56,277,403 in total gas costs, with $66,614,703 being recovered from customers through rates. Adding a beginning balance in the Deferred Gas Cost account ("ACA account") of positive $9,434,663 in under-recovered gas costs from the preceding ACA period and interest due from customers for the current period of $238,491 resulted in an ACA balance at June 30, 2003 of negative $664,146 in over-recovered gas costs. The Company's filing is summarized on the following page

CHATTANOOGA GAS COMPANY

A () around a number indicates a negative or credit balance in the ACA Account, which represents an over-recovery of gas costs. Over-recoveries result in a refund due to customers.

The Company filed a PGA, effective October 1, 2003, to begin refunding the balance in the ACA account as of June 30, 2003. The Staff's findings resulting from this audit are described in detail in Section VIII of this report.

IV. BACKGROUND INFORMATION ON COMPANY

Chattanooga Gas Company, located at 6125 Preservation Drive in Chattanooga, Tennessee, is a wholly owned subsidiary of AGL Resources, Inc., a holding company formed in 2000 in response to the Public Utility Holding Company Act (PUCHA) of 1935. AGL Resources, Inc. is located at Ten Peachtree Place, Atlanta, Georgia. As a local distribution company ("LDC"), Chattanooga Gas provides service to customers in Chattanooga and Cleveland, Tennessee, and environs in Hamilton and Bradley Counties in Tennessee, respectively. The natural gas used to serve these areas is purchased from various suppliers and transported via three natural gas pipelines in accordance with separate and individual tariffs approved by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC). The three interstate pipelines are Tennessee Gas Pipeline (TGP), East Tennessee Natural Gas (ETNG), and Southern Natural Gas (SNG).

V. JURISDICTION OF THE TENNESSEE REGULATORY AUTHORITY

Tennessee law provides broad jurisdiction and control over public utilities to the Tennessee Regulatory Authority (hereafter the "Authority" or "TRA"). Tenn Code Ann § 65-4-104 states

The Authority shall have general supervisory and regulatory power, jurisdiction, and control over all public utilities, and also over their property, property rights, facilities, and franchises, so far as may be necessary for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this chapter.

Further, Tenn. Code Ann. § 65-4-105 grants the same power to the Authority with reference to all public utilities within its jurisdiction as Tenn. Code Ann., Title 65. Chapters 3 and 5 confer oversight of the railroads to the Department of Transportation or oversight of transportation companies to the Department of Safety. By virtue of Tenn. Code Ann. § 65-3-108 said power includes the right to audit

The department is given full power to examine the books and papers of the said companies, and to examine, under oath, the officers, agents, and employees of said companies. to procure the necessary information to intelligently and justly discharge their duties and carry out the provisions of this chapter and chapter 5 of this title.

The Energy and Water Division of the TRA is responsible for auditing those companies under the Authority's jurisdiction to ensure that each company is abiding by Tennessee statutes as well as the Rules and Regulations of the Authority. Pat Murphy of the Energy and Water Division conducted this audit.

VI. DESCRIPTION OF PURCHASED GAS ADJUSTMENT RULE

Actual Cost Adjustment Audits:

The PGA Rule can be found in Chapter 1220-4-7 of the Rules of the Tennessee Regulatory Authority. The PGA Rule permits the Company to recover, in a timely fashion, the total cost of gas purchased for delivery to its customers and to assure that the Company does not over-collect or under-collect gas costs from its customers.

The PGA consists of three major components

1. The Actual Cost Adjustment (hereafter the "ACA")
2. The Gas Charge Adjustment (hereafter the "GCA")
3. The Refund Adjustment (hereafter the "RA")

The ACA is the difference between the revenues billed customers by means of the GCA and the cost of gas invoiced the Company by suppliers plus margin loss (if allowed by order of the TRA in another docket) as reflected in the Deferred Gas Cost account.

The ACA then "true-up" the difference between the actual gas costs and the gas costs recovered from the customer through a surcharge or a refund. The RA refunds the "true-up" along with other supplier refunds. For a more complete definition of the GCA and RA, please see the PGA Formula in Appendix A of this Report.

Section 1220-4-7-.03 (2) of the PGA rule requires:

Each year, the Company shall file with the [Authority] an annual report reflecting the transactions in the Deferred Gas Cost Account. Unless the [Authority] provides written notification to the Company within one hundred eighty (180) days from the date of filing the report, the Deferred Gas Cost Adjustment Account shall be deemed in compliance with the provisions of this Rule. This 180-day notification period may be extended by mutual consent of the Company and the [Authority] Staff or by order of the [Authority].

Prudence Audit of Gas Purchases:

Section 1220-4-7-.05 of the PGA Rule requires, unless otherwise ordered by the Authority, an "Audit of Prudence of Gas Purchases" by a qualified consultant. This specialized audit evaluates and reports annually on the prudence of any gas costs included in the PGA. At its September 11, 2001 Authority Conference, the Directors voted to approve a Performance-Based Ratemaking Mechanism for Chattanooga (Docket No. 01-00619). The mechanism affects all plan years ending after June 30, 2000 and continues each year unless terminated by the Company or the Authority. For each year that the mechanism is in effect, if CGC's total commodity gas purchases are less than 1% above the total annual benchmark, its purchases are deemed prudent and the requirements of Section 1220-4-7-.05 of the PGA Rule is waived.

VII. SCOPE OF ACA AUDIT

The ACA audit is a limited compliance audit of the Company's ACA account. The audit goal is to verify that the Company's calculations of gas costs incurred and recovered are materially correct,¹ and that the Company is following all Authority rules, orders and directives with respect to its calculation of the ACA Account balance. Also included in this audit is the Company's PGA filing implementing a customer refund of the ACA Account balance, effective October 1, 2003, a PGA filing to refund the balance in the Company's Interruptible Margin Credit Rider ("IMCR"), effective July 1, 2003 and a tariff filing to amend the IMCR Rider, effective January 1, 2003. Refer to the ACA Account detail provided in Section III, Summary of Company Filing.

To accomplish the audit goal, Staff reviewed gas supply invoices, as well as supplemental schedules and other source documentation provided by Chattanooga. Where appropriate, Staff requested additional information to clarify the filing.

During the audit process, Staff encountered a scope limitation imposed by the Company. Since Sequent Energy Management, an unregulated affiliate of Chattanooga, purchases substantially all the gas supply for the Company, it is necessary for Staff to review Sequent's supplier invoices to ensure that Sequent is passing on its actual costs to Chattanooga with no mark-up. At the time of filing the ACA, the Company provided redacted invoices, "blacking out" all information on the invoices except the amount that matched Sequent's invoices to Chattanooga. When Staff requested to be provided with "unredacted" copies, the Company responded that the invoices were highly confidential and that Staff could only view the invoices at the offices of its attorney in Nashville. Copies would be provided only if the TRA agreed to issue a protective order covering these invoices. Due to audit time constraints at the time and to the fact that a protective order was not appropriate in the context of an uncontested audit, Staff agreed to a review the invoices in question at the attorney's office. However, these restrictions did not provide the Staff the opportunity to thoroughly review and analyze the invoices to ensure the Authority that Sequent is in fact acting in a prudent and fair manner in its capacity as gas supplier for Chattanooga.

In its next audit of the Company's ACA filing, Staff again intends to request copies of Sequent's unredacted invoices and will take whatever measures available under the authority of this agency to enforce compliance.

VIII. ACA FINDINGS

Staff's audit resulted in findings totaling a negative $44,037. This amount is the net total of three (3) findings and represents a credit or additional over-recovery in the ACA Account, which when added to the Company's calculated balance, results in a negative (over-recovered) balance in the ACA Account of $708,183. A summary of the ACA account as filed by the Company and as adjusted by the Staff is shown below, followed by a description of each finding.

SUMMARY OF THE ACA ACCOUNT:

TOTAL		$ 44,037.32	Over-recovery

FINDING #1:

Exception:

The Company understated the amount of its storage injections for the month of September 2002

Discussion:

In calculating its cost of storage injections for September 2002, the Company used the wrong cashout rate. The result was that storage injections were understated by $2,121.32, which represents an over-collection of gas costs.

Company Response:

Chattanooga Gas Company concurs.

FINDING #2:

Exception:

The Company understated the amount of ACA surcharges collected for the 2001-2002 audit period.

Discussion:

At the conclusion of the 2001-2002 ACA filing period, the Company implemented a surcharge² to begin collection of the unrecovered balance in its ACA Account at June 30, 2002. In the calculation of the October 2002 collections, the Company used the wrong sales volumes for the "All Other"³ category of customers. Correcting these sales volumes resulted in an increase in gas cost recovery of $40,521⁴, which represents an over-recovery of gas costs.

Company Response:

Chattanooga Gas Company concurs

² PGA tariff filing 02-01226

³ The "All Other" category includes the firm customers (residential, commercial and multi-family)

⁴ Of this amount, $40,172 applies to the commodity portion and $349 applies to the demand portion

FINDING #3:

Exception:

The Company violated its "Interruptible Margin Credit Rider" tariff regarding the sharing of gross profit margin on Off-System Sales

Discussion:

During six months of the period (July 2002 – December 2002) covered by this audit, the Company had a tariff in place applicable to the treatment of gross profit margin realized on gas sales that the Company made to customers that were not on its system. Revenues collected from these sales, less the actual cost of gas, resulted in additional margin for the Company. The tariff specified that this margin was to be shared 50/50 between the Company and its customers. At the inception of this tariff, companies like Chattanooga Gas marketed their own excess gas supply. In exchange for this effort, effective November 1, 1995, the Company was allowed to retain 50% of the margin generated by these sales.

In April 2001, Sequent Energy Management ("Sequent"), an unregulated affiliate of Chattanooga Gas Company, began purchasing gas for Chattanooga. In May 2001, the Company entered into a bailment agreement (the "Agreement") with Sequent that authorized Sequent to act as its asset manager.⁵ The terms of the bailment agreement provided that Sequent would pay Chattanooga Gas $300,000 per year ($25,000 per month) for the right to manage Chattanooga Gas' assets when not needed by Chattanooga. Any additional profits (losses) would be retained by Sequent. This Agreement was never filed with the TRA for the Authority's approval. Therefore, Chattanooga was still operating under its Interruptible Margin Credit Rider tariff, which called for 50% of all gross profit margin generated by off-system sales to be credited to its customers.

It has now become apparent that Sequent's ability to market off-system sales far exceeds that of Chattanooga Gas. Sequent has access to pipelines and customers that are beyond the reach of the local gas distributor. Utilization of its affiliates' assets⁶ affords Sequent the opportunity to greatly increase profits generated in the unregulated arena.⁷ The following is taken from AGL Resources, Inc. (the parent Company of Chattanooga Gas) 2002 Annual Report to its stockholders, page 23

"Although Sequent is a nonregulated business, some of its underlying assets are regulated. Under varying agreements and practices, Sequent acts as asset manager and/or gas manager for AGL Resources' regulated utilities. Sequent aggregates gas from other marketers and producers and sells to third parties. In addition, Sequent bundles commodity with transportation and redelivers short-term and long-term transported commodity. The VSCC approved an asset management agreement that provides for a sharing of profits between Sequent and VNG's customers. Sequent and CGC have an agreement whereby Sequent pays CGC's ratepayers an annual fee for the right to act as CGC's asset manager. Sequent also operates as asset manager for AGLC. By statute, earnings from capacity release transactions are required to be shared 90% with Georgia's USF. By GPSC order, net margin earned by Sequent, for transactions involving AGLC assets other than capacity release, is required to be shared 50/50 with Georgia's USF."

⁶ Sequent manages Atlanta Gas Light (AGLC) and Virginia Natural Gas (VNG) assets also.

⁷ Effective January 1, 2003, Chattanooga amended its Interruptible Margin Credit Rider tariff regulating off-system sales to include all transaction with non-jurisdictional customers made by Sequent using Chattanooga's assets. The Company realized that potential profits greatly exceeded $600,000 (50% of which Sequent paid Chattanooga Gas under its Agreement). The amount credited to Chattanooga customers as their 50% share for the first year under the new tariff (January – December 2003) was $1.3 million (PGA tariff filing #20040260).

The above citation refers to approvals from the Virginia State Corporation Commission (VSCC) and the Georgia Public Service Commission (GPSC). However, no approval was received from the Tennessee Regulatory Authority for the agreement with Chattanooga Gas.

Staff attempted to discover the actual profits that Sequent experienced during this audit period using Chattanooga's assets. In its response to several Data Requests from the TRA Staff, the Company stated that during the time the Agreement with Sequent was in place, Sequent did not track off-system sales by affiliate. It also did not track other transactions by affiliate, or by regulated versus unregulated assets. The Georgia Public Service Commission also had this problem when auditing the AGLC's Universal Service Fund (October 2002 GPSC Staff Audit Report, pages 19 and 20).⁸

Staff believes that Chattanooga has violated its tariff for off-system sales sharing during six months of the period covered by this audit. Staff also believes that the customers of Chattanooga are entitled to significantly more credits for gross profit margins realized by Sequent using the assets Chattanooga customers have paid for. The Company credited $25,000 per month from July 2002 through December 2002 or $150,000 for the audit period. The customers' share of profits made in 2003 under an amended tariff,⁹ was $1.3 million,¹⁰ more than four (4) times the amount credited under the "Bailment Agreement." Staff believes that in the absence of proof to the contrary, Chattanooga Gas customers are entitled to half the profits made by Sequent for all transactions during the time period July – December 2002. Since Sequent is unable to identify profits accruing as a result of transactions using Chattanooga's assets during this time, the burden of proof lies with Sequent to present to this Authority for its consideration,

⁸ The GPSC audited AGLC's Universal Service Fund (USF) for the period 1998 through September 2002 and issued an order on December 23, 2002 (Docket No. 16193-U) requiring an additional $3.9 million related to capacity assets and $2.2 million related to Flexibility Fees (determined by the GPSC to be off-system sales) should be paid to the USF.

¹⁰ The 5th paragraph of the Company's response to "draft" Finding #3, stated that the Staff incorrectly "alleged" that the amount credited to CGC customers for the calendar year 2003 was $1.8 million. Staff has corrected this "typo" in the final report.

Sequent's determination of a "fair" amount (along with proper supporting documentation) that should be refunded to Chattanooga's customers

Company Response:¹¹

Chattanooga Gas Company ("CGC") does not concur.

First and foremost, CGC did not violate its "Interruptible Margin Credit Rider" tariff by crediting CGC's ratepayers $25,000 per month during July 2002-December 2002 for Sequent's use of CGC's assets. CGC entered into the Gas Storage Asset Bailment Agreement with Sequent Energy Management, LP ("Sequent") on May 1, 2001 (the "Agreement"). At that time, the Interruptible Margin Credit Rider provided that CGC retain 50% of gain from off-system sales if such sales occur. The rider did not provide for the sharing of gain from any other non-jurisdictional transactions that utilize such assets. In May 2001, CGC negotiated the Agreement under which Sequent assumed 100% of the risk associated with such non-jurisdictional transactions and guaranteed that ratepayers would receive $300,000 annually. This $300,000 annual payment was equivalent to sharing $600,000 gain from off-system sales.

CGC worked very hard to create an Agreement that limited the ratepayers' risk and provided the most benefit to its ratepayers under the current market conditions. The $300,000 fee was not an arbitrary amount, but was based on a multi-year average of off-system sales. In fact, AGL Services Company's ("AGLS") Director of Rates and Regulatory Analysis conducted a thorough review of prior off-system sales before determining that $300,000 was a reasonable sharing of the potential gains and risks associated with Sequent's management of CGC's assets. This bailment fee was also reviewed for reasonableness by an independent auditor, Deloitte and Touche, and found to be reasonable. Moreover, under the Agreement, CGC's ratepayers were guaranteed $300,000 even if Sequent lost money.

CGC does not understand why the Staff is now attempting to argue this sharing arrangement violated CGC's tariff. Significantly, CGC met with the Staff and discussed with them this arrangement before it was implemented. Prior to the meeting, CGC had become aware, through the review of TRA Staff reports, that another utility had in place a similar asset management agreement. When asked about the other utility's agreement, the Staff explained that the other utility had not been required to file the agreement for approval. Based on these discussions with the Staff, it was believed that it was not necessary to file for approval. Moreover, in a March 25, 2002 filing to credit customers for gains under the Interruptible Margin Credit Rider, CGC again informed the Staff of the Agreement and its terms¹² and implemented a credit to refund to the ratepayers the ¹¹ The response in this section has been provided by the Company and has not been altered or paraphrased by Staff. Footnotes 12-15 in this section were also composed by the Company.

¹² "In addition, effective May 1, 2001, the Company entered into an Asset Management Agreement with its affiliate, Sequent Energy Management, L.P. Under the Asset Management Agreement, the Company assigns its firm pipeline capacity, storage, and supply rights to the Asset Manager in exchange for an annual fee of $300,000 to be paid in equal monthly payments of $25,000 per month." March 25, 2002 payments from Sequent for the period of May 1, 2001 through December 2001. The arrangement with Sequent remained in place during the July 2001-June 2002 period that was previously audited by the Staff. The Staff made no mention of any alleged tariff violation in that final report. Based on the very open nature of this process and the lack of any communications to the contrary from the Staff or any such findings in any previous audit CGC believed and continues to believe that this sharing arrangement was in accordance with its tariff.

The Staff incorrectly states "The customers' share of profits made in 2003 under an amended tariff,¹³ was $1.8 million, more than four (4) times the amount credited under the "Bailment Agreement." In its February 27, 2004 filing, CGC implemented a credit to distribute approximately $1.3 million of shared gain for the twelve months ended December 31, 2003, not the $1.8 million alleged by the Staff. However, the gain for calendar year 2003 is not reflective of the gain from off-system for the last six months of 2002. First, Sequent was able to increase its overall profits in 2003 due to increased volatility in the market. When prices spiked in the first quarter of 2003, Sequent was able to capture margins which resulted in the $1.3 million shared with CGC's ratepayers for the calendar 2003. Such transactions could not have occurred during the latter part of 2002 because it would have been imprudent to withdraw stored gas inventory that could be required to supply customers during the heating season. However once into the first quarter of 2003, the gas needed to supply customers could be determined and transactions that resulted in the gain realized in 2003 were undertaken. It is inappropriate to attempt to utilize calendar year 2003 as a surrogate for the last six months of 2002 during which very different market conditions existed, and during a time when prudent management of stored gas inventory would have prevented transactions that resulted in the gains realized in 2003. Second due to this anticipated volatility, CGC, on its own initiative, undertook to eliminate the bailment relationship in December 2002 and amended its tariff in order to maximize credits for its ratepayers.¹⁴ The amended tariff made all transactions with non-jurisdictional customers subject to sharing, not just off-systems sales as provided under the previous tariff. This is another factor that enabled Sequent to return $1.3 million to ratepayers from transactions that occurred during 2003.

Finally, as CGC previously explained in data request responses, due to the nature of the Agreement and the bailment fee, Sequent did not track the revenue generated from off-system sales using CGC's assets.¹⁵ However, the Agreement and the bailment fee were appropriate at the time. Moreover, CGC terminated the Agreement as soon as it letter to Mrs. Pat Murphy TRA Energy and Water Division from Earl Burton, Manager Rates/Marketing CGC

¹³ For the period of January 2003 to June 2003, Chattanooga began operating under a new tariff, effective January 1, 2003. On February 27, 2004, the Company filed a PGA (tariff #20040260) to implement a refund of $1.3 million for the customers' share of profits made during 2003 using Chattanooga's assets.

¹⁵ Sequent did track the volumes, however, there is no correlation between volumes and revenues.

determined that changing market conditions necessitated a new arrangement in order to maximize gain. CGC will continue to monitor the market and is committed to ensuring that the asset management arrangement remains in the best interest of its ratepayers.

Staff Response:

After considering the Company's response to this finding, Staff again maintains that a tariff violation has occurred. The Interruptible Margin Credit Rider ("IMCR") tariff that was in effect during the term of the Bailment Agreement between Chattanooga and Sequent is attached to this report as "Attachment A." The pertinent part, under section Intent and Application, states "This Interruptible Margin Credit Rider is also intended to authorize the Company to recover not more than fifty percent (50%) of the gross profit margin that results from off-system sales of gas should such sales be made to off-system customers by the Company." [Emphasis added] Staff has never, despite suggestions made by the Company, interpreted this tariff to mean other than what it says, a 50/50 sharing between the Company and its customers

At the heart of this finding is a real doubt on the part of Staff that the customers have in fact received at least 50% of the gross profit margin realized by Sequent as a result of engaging in off-system sales on behalf of Chattanooga Gas. The Staff is not suggesting that the Company be penalized for the use of an asset manager. The question to be answered is whether the $300,000 paid by Sequent for the right to use Chattanooga's assets is greater or less than the 50% guaranteed to customers by this tariff.

At the onset of the Bailment Agreement, Staff was led to believe that not only would Sequent be able to generate more off-system sales than Chattanooga could, but that $300,000 would more than cover Chattanooga's right to 50% of gross margin resulting from these sales. In its response to this finding, the Company references a March 25, 2002 letter to Staff (see footnote 12). In that letter,¹⁶ the Company asserted that the Bailment Agreement fee represented 50% more than the customers' share of off-system sales for the period July 1999 – June 2000 and 200% more than their share during the period July 1998 – June 1999. That is true, however, the results of the July 2000 – June 2001 period were not evident to Staff until the Company's PGA tariff filing effective April 1, 2002. That filing (in conjunction with the previous filing effective December 2001) showed that the customers' 50% share of off-system sales margin for the 10 months ended April 2001 was approximately $909,000, or three (3) times the annual fee under the Bailment Agreement.

To repeat, until the current audit period Staff was still operating under the impression that the $300,000 fee met the threshold of a 50/50 sharing of off-system sales margin.¹⁷ At the time of Staff's audit of the July 2001-June 2002 period (referenced by

¹⁶ See Attachment B

¹⁷ If Staff had believed that the $300,000 fee did not represent a reasonable estimate of 50% or more of off-system sales margin as required by the IMCR tariff, Staff would have instructed the Company to file an amendment to its tariff for approval by the Authority for a flat rate fee that was not contingent on actual the Company in its response), the Company had credited the customers with eight (8) months of the annual fee (for May 2001 – December 2001). During its review, Staff did not ask the Company for documentation of off-system sales transactions for that period. Perhaps we should have, but that fact does not preclude Staff from investigating this area in a subsequent audit.

Since the last audit report was released in April 2003, it has become apparent to Staff that Sequent's potential for gain at the expense of Chattanooga customers is a real possibility. It is evident that this idea has also occurred to the Company. In June 2003, the Company filed for a revision to its Interruptible Margin Credit Rider, to be effective January 1, 2003. In its letter of June 16, 2003,¹⁸ CGC admits that market conditions have changed since the adoption of the IMCR tariff. To that end, CGC proposed to expand its tariff language to include 50% sharing of all transactions involving the use of Chattanooga's assets. Keep in mind that the above-referenced assets have been entirely paid for by the customers of Chattanooga. Staff suspects that in the "unregulated" arena the potential for gain utilizing "regulated" assets is significant. Therefore, it is the duty of the Authority to ensure that customers receive the fair share they are entitled to.

Since the Company did not file to refund off-system sales credits for the period January 2002 through December 2002 until July 2003, the review of those refunds fall under the current audit. Therefore, in contrast to the "draft" findings to which the Company responded above, $300,000 ($25,000 times 12 months) of the Bailment Agreement fees are in question rather than $150,000 ($25,000 times 6 months). During the period of discovery, Staff issued four (4) separate data requests with questions regarding the amounts that Sequent earned using the assets of Chattanooga. The Company was not forthcoming on any of them. The standard response was that Sequent did not (during the period May 2001 through December 2002) separately track any transactions using the assets of its affiliates,¹⁹ whether for off-system sales or any other transactions. Staff believes that whenever a Company enters into an agreement of any kind with its affiliate, it is incumbent on the Company to document not only the arrangement, but the affiliate transactions as well. This documentation must be made available to regulators on request for audit purposes. This requirement is implicit in a Company's tariff. Staff finds it unacceptable that neither Chattanooga nor Sequent can provide reliable evidence that the customers of CGC are receiving the return on their investment envisioned in the IMCR tariff.²⁰

Therefore, Staff has no option but to render its opinion that the terms of the tariff have been violated. Staff also takes this opportunity to put the Company on notice that in its next ACA audit of CGC, Staff will be reviewing the transactions underlying the credits refunded to customers under the terms of the amended tariff effective January 1, sales dollars. Conditions appear to have changed since May 2001 and Staff is now looking for assurance that the customers are receiving their share which was contemplated under the IMCR tariff.

¹⁸ See Attachment C

¹⁹ See footnote 6

²⁰ Staff again references the docket in Georgia that addressed a similar situation between Atlanta Gas Light and Sequent. See footnote 8

2003. If the Company is not able to substantiate the refund amounts, Staff will be forced to recommend that its affiliate Sequent not be permitted to manage Chattanooga's assets

Staff's recommendations to the Authority regarding this finding and other concerns can be found in Section IX.

FINDING #4:Exception:

The Company over-stated the amount of interest due from customers

Discussion:

Staff recalculated the amount of interest due on account balance after making corrections for Findings #1 and #2. The result is a reduction of interest in the amount of $1,395²¹. This represents an over-recovery of gas costs.

Company Response:

Chattanooga Gas Company concurs.

²¹ Of this amount, $1,384 applies to the commodity portion and $11 applies to the demand portion

IX. STAFF AUDIT RECOMMENDATIONS

During the audit of Chattanooga Gas's Actual Cost Adjustment for the current period, Staff became aware of several areas of concern, foremost among them the asset management agreement between the Company and its affiliate Sequent Energy Management. While there is no direct finding relative to this arrangement per se, Staff does have concerns regarding the affiliate relationship that need to be explored in more depth. An example of one concern is Staff's Finding #3 (payments made under the Company's Bailment Agreement). Therefore, Staff makes the following recommendations to the Authority for its consideration.

1 The Authority should consider sanctions and/or penalties against Chattanooga for failure to document off-system sales margin in order to comply with the terms of its IMCR tariff.

2. The Authority should instruct Chattanooga to provide a reasonable method to determine a fair amount that should be refunded to Chattanooga customers for the use of the assets they have paid for during the period January 2002 through December 2002. Should the Company be unable or unwilling to provide a reasonable method, Staff recommends that Chattanooga customers be refunded 50% of the gross margin on all transactions that Sequent engaged in using all assets at its disposal during this period.

3 The Company should be instructed to make sure a system is in place to track all transactions made using Chattanooga's assets going forward.

4 Considering the confusion arising in this audit over the use of an affiliated asset manager, the Authority should consider formalizing an amendment to the IMCR tariff addressing the basic requirements for affiliate agreements such as this one.

5 Due to the complexity of current market conditions and the affiliate arrangement existing between Chattanooga and Sequent, the Authority should engage an outside consultant to assist Staff in future audits of Chattanooga's ACA Account and Incentive Plan. This consultant would work under the direction of the TRA Staff, with consulting fees paid for by Chattanooga and reimbursed by the ratepayers in the Actual Cost Adjustment.

APPENDIX A

The computation of the GCA can be broken down into the following formulas:

GCA = The Gas Charge Adjustment in dollars per Ccf/Therm, rounded to no more than five decimal places

D = The sum of all fixed Gas Costs.

DACA = The demand portion of the ACA.

P = The sum of all commodity/gas charges.

T = The sum of all transportation charges.

SR = The sum of all FERC approved surcharges

CACA = The commodity portion of the ACA

DB = The per unit rate of demand costs or other fixed charges included in base rates in the most recently completed general rate case (which may be zero if the Company so elects and the Commission so approves)

CB = The per unit rate of variable gas costs included in base rates in the most recently completed general rate case (which may be zero if the Company so elects and the Commission so approves).

SF = Firm Sales.

ST = Total Sales.

The computation of the RA can be computed using the following formulas.

- RA = The Refund Adjustment in dollars per Ccf/Therm, rounded to no more than five decimal places.
- DR1 = Demand refund not included in a currently effective Refund Adjustment, and received from suppliers by check, wire transfer, or credit memo.
- DR2 = A demand surcharge from a supplier not includable in the GCA, and not included in a currently effective Refund Adjustment.
- CR1 = Commodity refund not included in a currently effective Refund Adjustment, and received from suppliers by check, wire transfer, or credit memo
- CR2 = A commodity surcharge from a supplier not includable in the GCA, and not included in a currently effective Refund Adjustment
- CR3 = The residual balance of an expired Refund Adjustment.
- i = Interest on the "Refund Due Customers" account, using the average monthly balances based on the beginning and ending monthly balances. The interest rates for each calendar quarter used to compute such interest shall be the arithmetic mean (to the nearest one-hundredth of one percent) of the prime rate value published in the "Federal Reserve Bulletin" or in the Federal Reserve's "Selected Interest Rates" for the 4th, 3rd, and 2nd months preceding the 1st month of the calendar quarter.

SFR = Firm sales as defined in the GCA computation, less sales under a transportation or negotiated rate schedule.

STR = Total sales as defined in the GCA computation, less sales under a transportation or negotiated rate schedule

INTERRUPTIBLE MARGIN CREDIT RIDER

APPLICABILITY

This Rider shall apply to and become part of each of the Company's Rate Schedules under which gas is sold on a firm basis (hereinafter referred to as "Firm Schedule").

INTENT AND APPLICATION

This Interruptible Margin Credit Rider is intended to authorize the Company to recover ninety percent (90%) of the gross profit margin losses that result from rates negotiated under the provisions of Special Service Rate Schedule SS-1 or from customers who switch to alternate fuels where the Company is unable to meet alternate fuel competition.

This Interruptible Margin Credit Rider is also intended to authorize the Company to recover not more than fifty percent (50%) of the gross profit margin that results from off-system sales of gas should such sales be made to off-system customers by the Company.

DETERMINATION OF GROSS PROFIT MARGIN LOSSES

The gross profit margin loss shall be calculated as ninety percent (90%) of the difference between the Test-Year Targeted Rate Margin as determined in the Company's most recent rate case order of the Authority and the Actual Negotiated Rate Margin.

Any amount of gross profit margin losses shall be recovered from the firm commodity component of gas costs as determined under the presently effective Purchased Gas Adjustment Provision.

FILING WITH THE AUTHORITY

Each negotiated rate gross profit margin loss accounting/recovery period shall correspond with the Company's Fiscal Year, which ends December 31, each year.

The Company shall charge all authorized negotiated rate gross profit margin losses to the "Deferred Gas Cost" account in accordance with Section III.C. of the Authority's PGA Docket No. G86-1 and shall file the supplemental sheets required by this Rule showing the calculation of the margin losses.

March 25, 2002

Amended Filing

Mr Pat Murphy
Tennessee Regulatory Authority
Energy and Water Division
460 James Robertson Parkway
Nashville, TN 372430-0505

Dear Ms. Murphy,

Pursuant to the Tennessee Regulatory Authority's Rules and Regulations, Chattanooga Gas Company, or the "Company", hereby files two (2) amended copies of the following revisions to Chattanooga Gas Tariff No 1

Seventieth Revised Sheet No 53
Sixty-Eighth Revised Sheet No 55

We propose an effective date of April 1, 2002. The net cost of gas filed herein reflects the Company's anticipated cost of natural gas for the month of April. The Company proposes to use a price of $4.42/mcf for gas costs which reflects the approximate WACOG storage gas costs that the Company projects as the primary supply for the month of April 2002. Higher withdrawals from the Company's storage are necessary to manage cost and to replace storage gas with lower gas costs for future benefit to the Company's ratepayers. Additionally, the Company's deferred gas account is currently in a considerable under-collection position and the Company wants to avoid any further undercollections for the remaining ACA year.

This filing also contains the Company's refund of 50% of the total value earned through Off-System Sales from October 1, 2000 through April 30, 2001 in the amount of $275,140.92. The detail of the Off-System Sales calculation is provided in Attachment A. Historically, this filing has taken place within 60 days of the close of the Company's fiscal year. However, effective October 1, 2001, the Company changed its reporting from a fiscal year ending September 30, to a calendar year basis. Because of this change, the Off-system Sales Report which was previously filed by November 30, has been delayed until now to coincide with the 60 day requirement. As a result we have also extended the time period on which interest on refunds due to customers is calculated.

In addition, effective May 1, 2001, the Company entered into an Asset Management Agreement with its affiliate, Sequent Energy Management, L.P. Under the Asset Management Agreement, the Company assigns its firm pipeline capacity, storage, and supply rights to the Asset Manager in exchange for an annual fee of $300,000 to be paid in equal monthly payments of $25,000 per month. The Company asserts that the annual payment received from the asset manager is approximately 50% greater than the amount credited to the customers for the twelve months ended June 2000, and 200% greater than that for the twelve months ended June 1999 for Off-system Sales. Even though the gas supply assets have been assigned to the Asset Manager, the Company still retains the right to call on the gas supply from the asset manager for its city gate needs consistent with its rights as they existed prior to their assignment to the asset manager. The Asset Manager's monthly payment is solely for the value acquired for utilization of the released assets when they are not needed by the Company.

Because the Company has entered into an agreement with an affiliate to manage its un-utilized capacity and storage assets, we also contracted with the accounting firm of Deloitte and Touche ("D&T") for the purpose of performing an independent valuation on the Asset Management Agreement. D&T's valuation report affirms that the $300,000 annual fee paid to the Company is consistent with the market value for the use of these assets. A copy of D&T's valuation report, as well as D&T's memorandum of services to be performed, is attached to this filing. This filing therefore includes $200,000 from the Asset Management fees for the period of May 1, 2001 through December 31, 2001 as detailed in Attachment B.

A total of the Off-system Sales revenues, Asset Management fees, and accrued interest through December 1, 2001 is itemized on page 14 of this PGA filing. Additionally, the refund includes an IMCR balance from the prior 99-00 IMCR refund that was discontinued in November 2001. This outstanding balance has been added to this filing and is itemized on Page 13.

Should there be any questions, I will be please to discuss this filing in further detail with you.

Dear Mr Gaines,

Pursuant to the Tennessee Regulatory Authority's Rules and Regulations, Chattanooga Gas Company (CGC) hereby files three (3) copies of the following revisions to Chattanooga Gas Tariff No 1

Sixth Revised Sheet No. 48

The Company proposes that this filing be made effective January 1, 2003 to coincide with the beginning of the next period for reporting CGC's off-system sales activity. The report for the calendar year 2003 will be filed after all required data is available in early 2004

The current tariff provision addresses off-system sales, but does not address other non-sales transactions that involve CGC and non-jurisdictional customers. Such transactions were not envisioned at the time the current tariff language was adopted. The revised language clarifies that the current treatment of off-system sales applies to all such transaction that involve the use of CGC's gas supply assets.

For your convenience, a red lined copy of the revised tariff identifying the changes from the current tariff is provided. Should there be any questions, I will be pleased to discuss this filing in further detail with you.

Sincerely,

Archie R. Hickerson
